This newspaper produced under divisions A-2 & A-5 Graphic Arts Code.

Hope Star

WEATHER
Arkansas—Partly cloudy Saturday night; Sunday partly cloudy; probably rain in south portion.

VOLUME 35—NUMBER 209 (AP)—Means Associated Press (NEA)—Means Newspaper Enterprise Ass'n HOPE, ARKANSAS, SATURDAY, JUNE 16, 1934 Star of Hope founded 1899; Hope Daily Press, 1927; Consolidated as Hope Star, January 18, 1929. PRICE 5c COPY

PLAN NO. 4 ROAD MEET HERE

Here and There

—Editorial By ALEX. H. WASHBURN—

WHEN England closed her fiscal year a few weeks ago with a surplus in the treasury she promptly reduced taxes—and thereupon many Americans began to look askance at President Roosevelt's program in the United States, with its continued federal expenditures and mounting taxes.

The latest to appear at the wailing place is the Arkansas Gazette, which says:

There are some people in the United States who don't want to reduce federal taxes. They want taxes made still heavier. They don't think of taxation simply as a means of raising the necessary revenue to meet the government expenses. They think of it as a penalty to be exacted from certain envied individuals and an instrument for "redistribution of wealth."

I have read many comments on England's "remarkable" accomplishment in cutting expenses below revenue, accumulating a surplus, and reducing taxes.

But it seems to me more natural than remarkable.

I can imagine either England or the United States getting their finances into a jam—but I can't imagine either of them leaving things that way for long.

None of the comment that I have read comparing the English 1933-34 budget with President Roosevelt's program brings out a point that everybody once observed and has now apparently forgotten—the fact that the British two or three years ago were spending more money on the people than Mr. Roosevelt ever spent, and had a budget fully as unbalanced as Mr. Roosevelt's now is.

The plain facts are, that against the Hoover administration the British looked bad, because they were spending money on the first step of a recovery program—and now that they are further up the road toward recovery, they look good against the Roosevelt administration, whose recovery program is just getting under way.

The British experience, it seems to me, instead of damning the present American administration, proves that we are on the right road.

X X X

William Feather, editor of the sprightly Imperial Type Metal Magazine, explains why girls know more than boys do:

I have observed that girls turn promptly to their mothers when they encounter "boy trouble." The two enjoy a long talk, and the mother, drawing on her long experience in these matters, gives her daughter expert advice.

Thus at 13, girls are completely skilled in the arts of their sex, whereas the young men are novices, because boys seldom, if ever, turn to their fathers for advice. In fact, they usually hold the old men in contempt, having no confidence whatever in their judgment—particularly as applying to women.

The game between the sexes apparently will be forever played between unequal opponents, the girls knowing every trick, and the conceited, untutored boys knowing nothing.

Johnson Accuses Republican Press of Sniping at NRA

Impossible to Get Square Deal From Most of Them, He Says

OBSERVE BIRTHDAY

West Virginia Calls Holiday on NRA's First Anniversary

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—(AP)—Recovery Administrator Johnson Saturday assailed the Clarence Darrow Review Board as communistic in purpose, accused part of the press of falsifying NRA news, and attacked partisan politicians aligned against the recovery unit.

His reply to critcis featured this state's holiday celebration of NRA's first birthday.

Declaring that much of the press is in the hands of the political opposition "anxious to regain office, and that to get a square deal from these papers for NRA is impossible," he said:

"I can understand the communistic purpose of the Darrow board as an openly-avowed assult on our whole system, in favor o fthe semi-barbaric troclies of half-civilized Russia.

"But the betrayal of a great public trust by a newspaper to accomplish a partisan end in utter disregard of the present and future security of the wage and salary earning elements of our population is quite another matter."

Cuban President Injured by Bomb

Polish Minister of Interior Slain by Assassin at Warsaw

HAVANA, Cuba—(AP)—A terrorist's bomb intended to kill President Carlos Mendieta was exploded behind the president's chair at the official luncheon Friday, slightly wounding him and killing two naval men, one of whom the president credited with saving his life.

Ten other persons were injured, among them Secretary of Communications Gabriel Landa and Captain Salvador M. Villoch, chief of the navy. The president's injury was to the hand and that of Secretary Landa on the arm.

Police said the bomb was brought in the luncheon room, in the immigration detention camp at Tiscornia, across the bay from Havana, concealed in a camera box.

Ten persons, ll described as photographers who had ben admitted to the gathering were seized and a Havana photographer shop was raided.

The explosion came as President Mendieta was about to take his seat after delivering an address to the assembled officials who included high ranking officials of civil, military and naval life.

"The man standing behind me saved my life but lost his own," said the president. He referred to Matas Tapia, a seaman. The other man killed was a naval lieutenant, Manuel Colomar.

Polish Officials Slain

WARSAW, Poland—(AP)—Minister of the Interior Bronsilaw Pieracki was assassinated Friday by a man who fired two shots into his body as he metered the government party club and who fired a third time after the minister had fallen to the street, dying The killer was waiting at 4 p. m. regular dinner hour of the bachelor statesman.

As Pieracki started up the steps of the club, a man who had been following him opened fire.

The assassin, hat pulled over his face, escaped. A policeman chased the fleeing man, who turned around and fired a shot that wounded his pursuer.

Police believed the assassination to be connected with recent arrests of Ukrainian trrerists or with other recent political activities. Pieracki had just returned to Warsaw from an inspection tuor of Eastern Galacia, where he was born in 1895.

Automatic vending machines, electrically refrigerated, will deliver a 5-cent bottle of milk for 10 cents and repay 5 cents when the bottle is returned, in factory districts in Philadelphia.

Mail Terminal Is Saved Texarkana

But Postal Workers Sustain Cut of $12.50 Per Week

TEXARKANA—Assuring the permanency of the railway mail service as a unit of the United States postal service and perpetuating here mail terminal facilities, the postal reclassifications bill has been signed by

(Continued on Page Three)

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

When a girl throws a "ball" nowadays, few men want to steal home.

Dictators Reach New European Pact

Hitler, Mussolini Bid One Another Goodby at Venice

German Dictator Abandons Plan to Unite With Austria

LEAVE OUT FRENCH

Mussolini Agrees Not to Oppose Nazi Chancellor for Austria

VENICE, Italy—(AP)—Adolf Hitler, manifestly satisfied with the results of his two-day conference with Europe's leading dictator, Benito Mussolini, left by plane early Saturday for Berlin, ending what may prvoe to be one of the momentous meetings of history.

Hitler and Mussolini said a cordial farewell to each other at the airport while thousands of Fascist troops cheered.

No Austro-German Unity

VENICE, Italy. — (AP) — Chancellor Hitler's plan for an Austrian union with Germany was tossed into the discard Friday night as a spokesman revealed the full import o fthe Mussolini-Hitler conversations.

Austria, lying between the two Fascist nations, must remain an independent nation and work out its own destiny; but in return for Hitler's abandonment of "anschluss" the Italian leader agreed that Italy would not object if a Nazi weer elected chancellor of Austria.

The announcement made by Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian press chief, confirmed that no new agreement was reached by Mussolini and Hitler on disarmament. Hitler was adamant that Germany will not return to Geneva until parity rights to armaments have been recognized.

Nazis Abandon Uprising

Ciano's announcement created a stir in official diplomatic circles here. It was taken to mean that the Nazis will discontinue their aggressive activity in Austria. Elections will be held in Austria next October. It is possible then that a Nazi will become chancellor of Austria without provoking anschluss or a counter-move from Italy.

With Dictator Engelbert Dollfuss and the Fascist Hiemwehr ruling in defiance of Nazi influence, this agreement's effect remains dubious.

Germany will be invited to join an Austro-Hungarian economic accord. This was regarded as the beginning of a hugh bloc composed of Germany, Italy, Poland, Hungaria and Austria. Observers expressed belief it will mean dominance of Germany and Italy in the Balkans.

Count Ciano said, however, that the tendency of the Mussolini-Hitler conversations was contrary to regional blocs in favor of a general collaboration.

French quarters saw in this a contradiction to previous statemnts in the Italian press taht the Hitlrer-Mussolini meeting was not directed against France. The agreement reached on Austria leaves France out entirely.

Denial From Vienna

VIENNA, Australia—(AP)—Vigorous denials that an independent Nazi Austria is just around the corner as the result of the meeting in Venice of Chancellor Hitler and Premier Musolini were made here Saturday.

A government spokesman characterized as "fantastic" reports that Musolini had agreed not to oppose new elections in Austria including the possible election of a Nazi government.

4,100 Poll Tax Receipts Issued

Compares With 2,800 Last Year—and 4,800 Two Years Ago

Poll tax receipts issued to Hempstead county voters for this year's elections numbered slightly over 4,100, a deputy in the sheriff's office at Washington said Saturday.

The exact number could not be obtained as several tax books had not been checked. Deadline for paying the tax expired midnight Friday.

The receipts issued this year compares with 2,800 for 1933, an "off-year."

Receipts purchased by Hempstead voters in 1932 numbered around 4,800.

A total of 78 candidates qualified for district, county and township races for the first primary to be held August 14. The run-off will be held two weeks later, August 28.

Bulletins

CLEVELAND, Ohio— —The body of 3-year-old Peggy Young was found floating in the muddy Cuyahoga river Saturday afternoon a few hours after Floyd Ranker, Jr., 10, told police a wierd story of how he pushed the child into the river Friday.

Week-End to See Congress Adjourn

Housing and Anti-Strike Measures Are Rushed Through Saturday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Intent upon adjournment Saturday night congress labored overtime during the day to pass two or more of the Roosevelt bills that have kept it breathlessly busy since January.

These were the ones to promote home construction by making it easy to borrow, and to put power in the president's hands to settle disputes over collective bargaining.

The house unanimously adopted the labor resolution soon after convening, and the senate passed the housing bill around noon, sending it to conference with house members over minor differences.

The senate decided not to make further investigation of charges with the Long-Overton campaign in Louisiana; and the house passed the McKeown bankruptcy bill allowing farmers to live on mortgaged farm homes for six years. The measure now goes a conference committee to adjust differences with the senate.

May Adjourn Saturday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Congress drove toward adjournment Friday night and when an overnight recess had been called, leaders were hopeful that it might be had Saturday.

One major argument was saved for the last. The senate hastened action on the deficiency appropriations bill, planned quick disposal of hte administration's housing plan and put aside until Saturday the substitute for the Wagner Labor Board bill.

This promised to bring the first Roosevelt congress to an end amid much disputation. An agreement between Republican and Democrat leaders had not entirely squelched independents protesting against the compromise that had worked out.

The house ambled through bill after bill. If authorized an inquiry into the need for oil control, a study into the nation's tin supply; approved a new Indian policy, approved a national adjustment board to settle disputes between railway workers and carriers, approved a federarlly supervised pension for railroad workers, and many other measures. The senate approved the $2,000,000,000 deficiency bill and sent it to conference to the house.

"We'll have a lot of miscellaneous stuff to dispose of," said Speaker Rainey. " We'll act on the labor bill Saturday. It looks as though we are going to get out Saturday night."

Relief Voters

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Two and a quarter billion dollars were voted by the senate Friday night for the administration's public works and relief programs. The funds were carried in the deficiency appropriations bill which the senate passed without a record vote and sent back to the house after 10 hours of debate that lasted far into the night.

Approval of the big supply measure left two major bills to be passed before adjournment, the administration housing bill and the temporary labor disputes propesal introduced late Friday by Senator Robinson of Arkansas, the Democratic leader.

Administration forces defeated efforts of a group of independent Republicans and Democrats to expand funds available for the recovery and relief program, except an increase in the committee's recommendation of $450,000,000 for drouth relief to the $525,000,000 figure rcommended by the president.

Paris Terrorized by Bomb Throwes

"Judges of Hell" Again Active—Believed Work of Single Madman

PARIS—(AP)—"The three judges of hell" struck again Friday throughout Paris.

Police admitted that they had no clues to the source of the spectacular bombing campaign, aimed at French people "without distinction as to age, sex or rank."

Altogether 10 identical infernal machines have been found in the mail, five of them Friday, and two have exploded. The packages were mailed from branch postoffices in Paris.

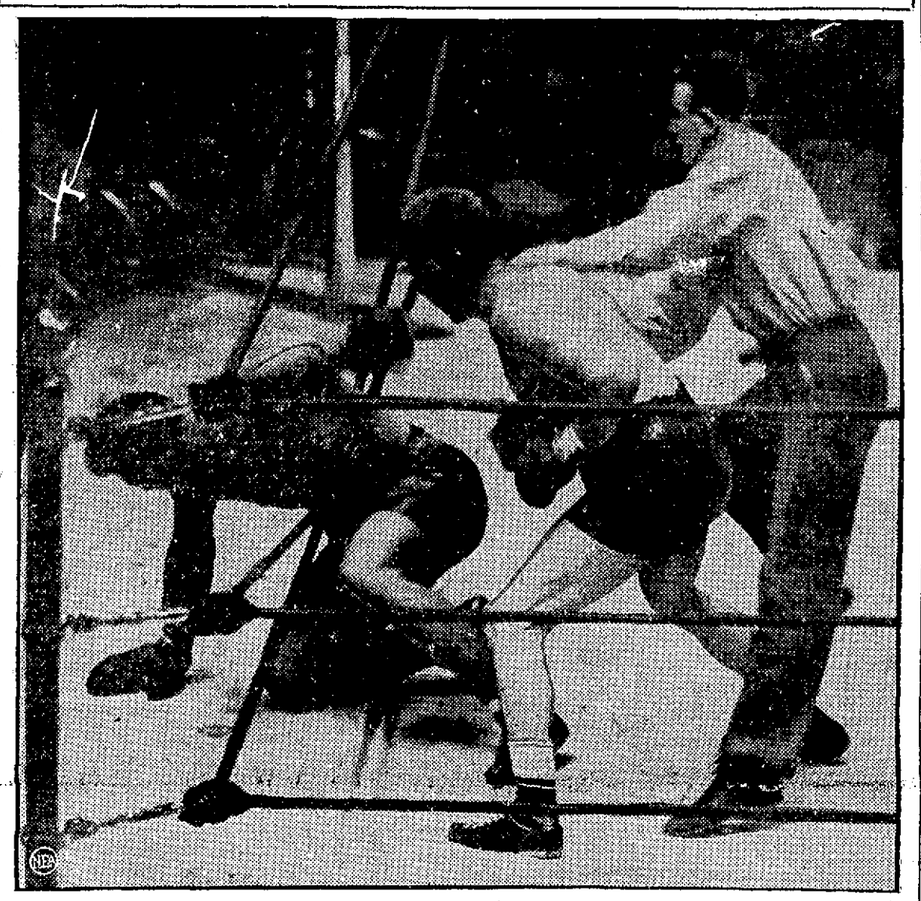

The police theory is that the bombs are being sent by one person, rather than three, and that he is a madman whose mind became unbalanced from worrying about the Staviski scandal and other national issues.

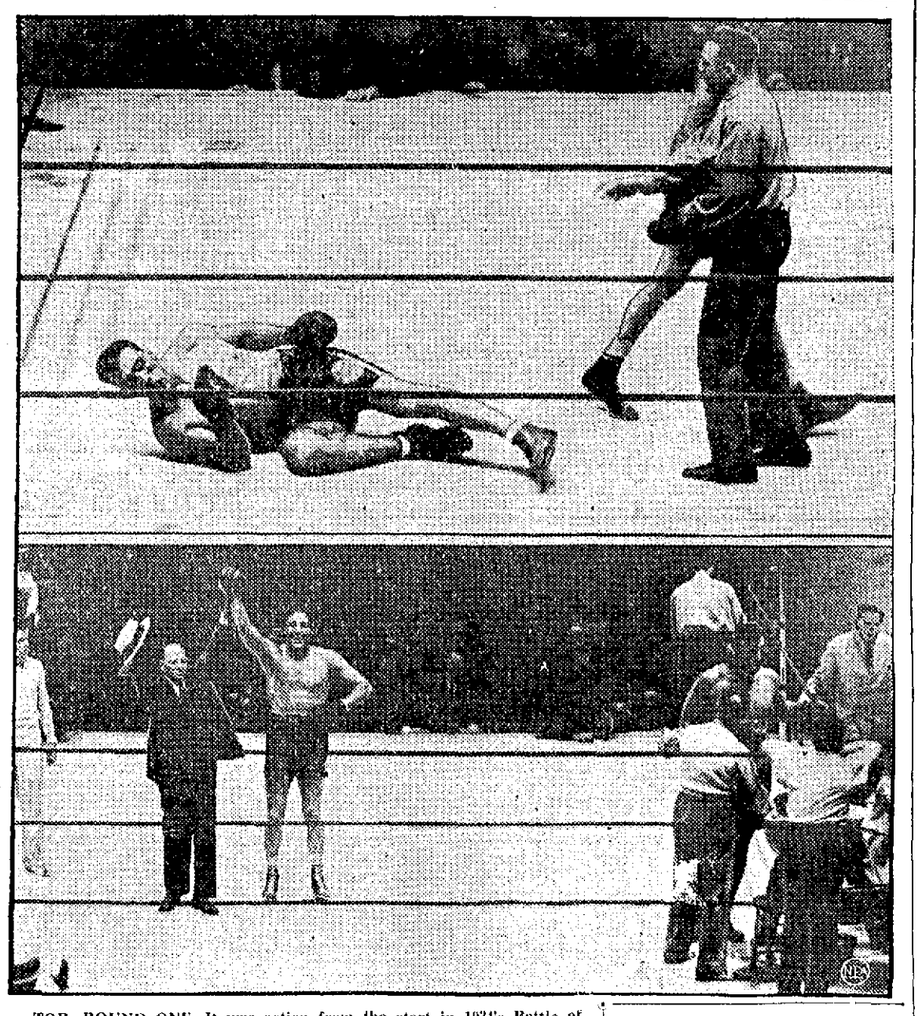

Two of the bombs went to American firms, and one Friday, when it was unwrapped in the office of Andre Citreon, the "Henry Ford of France." A clerk was injured an the office was damaged.

Two days ago a bomb exploded in a postoffice, injuring three persons, and calling attention for the first time

(Continued on Page Three)

The First Round--and the Last

TOP—ROUND ONE—It was action from the start in 1934's Battle of the Century Thursday night when Max Baer, California titan, pounded his way to a thrill-packed 11-round triumph over Primo Carnera, the heavyweight champion. A foretaste of what was to come is afforded in this striking photo in the first round of the championship bout at Madison Square Garden Bowl, in Long Island City, N. Y., as Baer, after knocking down Carnera, stands ready to follow up his advantage.

CENTER AND BOTTOM—ROUND ELEVEN—A world heavyweight champion is changing hands as Prima Carnera sprawls in the resin in the center photo, flattened by a terrific right-hand punch from Max Baer in the 11th round. A moment later the hand of the new champion is raised in token of victory by Announcer Joe Humphries, as shown in the bottom picture. Here Carnera is seen in his corner, with his handlers gathered about him.

Mauldin Runs for DeRoan Overseer

Hope Ex Street Commissioner Candidate in August

L. S. Mauldin announced as a candidate for road overseer in DeRoan township in the political column of today's Star, following his filing of a candidate's pledge before the deadline Thursday night.

A resident of Hope, Mr. Mauldin has had much experience in road building and maintenance. He served several years as street commissioner for the City of Hope, and is well known throughout the county.

Rally for South Arkansas to Be Held on June 27

Ellison, of Camden, to Make Arrangements Here Monday

GAP IS ELEVEN MILES

Only Nevada County Link Remains to Be Finished by State

Completion of highway No. 4, which is finished across the entire state except for the 11-mile gap in Nevada county between Rosston and the Ouachita county line, will be the object of a luncheon meeting planned in Hope Wednesday, June 27, by good roads sponsors from a dozen Arkansas counties.

Camden Chamber of Commerce has issued a tentative invitation to Monticello, Warren and other east Arkansas business men to join in a motorcade to Hope on the 27th, according to a leter received by The Star Saturday from Luther Ellison, secretary of the Camden commercial group.

A substantial delegation is also expected from Rosston, Waterloo, Willisville and other points in the Nevada county area to be served by the unfinished link in No. 4.

Mr. Ellison plans to visit Hope this Monday to arrange for the local meeting, and to extend invitations to business men in Nashville and DeQueen to attend the local luncheon rally.

Highway No. 4, known as the Desoto Trail, runs across Arkansas from the Oklahoma line to the Mississippi river. It connects at Nashville with direct outlets to Oklahoma on the west, and terminating at Arkansas City on the east it connects by ferry with Greenwood, Miss.

Interest of southern Nevada county citizens in Hi. No. 4 completion was revived this spring with meetings held at Willisville and Camden.

Following the Hope meeting it is expected some understanding can be obtained from the State Highway Commission regarding the probable date No. 4 will be completed between Hope and Camden.

Former Banker of Batesville Killed

D. D. Adams Victim of Auto Collision in Arkadelphia

ARKADELPHIA.—(AP)—D. D. Adams, former president of the Union Bank & Trust Co., at Batesville, was killed instantly when his car and a lumber truck collided at a street intersection here Saturday.

Adams, now a cotton broker, member of D. D. Adams & Co., Batesville, was traveling south from Hot Springs, and a Sturgis Lumber company truck driven by Earl E. Aud, was going west when they collided.

Adams was thrown from the car and landed on his head.

He was identified by papers found in a brief case.

The Union Bank & Trust Co. closed in 1928.

First Cotton Boll Is Reported Here

The first cotton bolls reported in Hempstead county from the 1934 planting were brought to Hope Saturday by J. S. Mayor of Guernsey. He displayed here two squares, one of which contained twin bolls. The cotton is the Rose Allen variety, capable of producing four bales per acre, Mr. Mayor said.

This year will be his first to experiment with this particular variety, planting only one and a half acres.

Markets

Hope Cotton Exchange

New York Cotton

	Open	High	Low	Close
July	12.01	12.05	11.94	11.95....
Oct.	12.29	12.30	12.18	12.18-20

July up 2 points.

New Orleans Cotton

July	12.02	12.04	11.94	11.94-95
Oct.	12.25	12.27	12.15	12.16

July up 2 points.

Closing Stock Quotations

Amer Can	98
Amer Smelter	43
Amer Tel and Tel	117¾
Anaconda	16⅜
Chrysler	43⅛
Warner Bros	6¼
Mo Pac Pfd	xx
Secony Vacuum	16⅞
Standard Oil of N. J.	47⅝
U. S. Steel	43
General Motors	33¼

Little Rock Produce

Hens, heavy breeds per lb	8 to 9c
Hens, Leghorn breeds per lb	6 to 7c
Broilers per lb	13 to 18c
Roosters per lb	3 to 4c
Eggs per doz	10 to 12c

Hope Star

O Justice, Deliver Thy Herald From False Report!

Published every week-day afternoon by Star Publishing Co., Inc. (C. E. Palmer & Alex. H. Washburn), at The Star building, 212-214 South Walnut street, Hope, Arkansas.

C. E. PALMER, President
ALEX. H. WASHBURN, Editor and Publisher

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Hope, Arkansas Under the Act of March 3, 1897.

Definition: "The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, through widely circulated advertisements, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."—Col. R. R. McCormick.

Subscription Rate (Always Payable in Advance): By city carrier, per week 10c; six months $2.75; one year $5.00. By mail, in Hempstead, Nevada, Howard, Miller and LaFayette counties, $3.50 per year; elsewhere $5.00.

Member of The Associated Press: The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for republication of all news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.

National Advertising Representatives: Arkansas Dailies, Inc., Memphis, Tenn.; Sterick Bldg.; New York City, Graybar Bldg.; Chicago, Ill., 75 E. Wacker, Drive; Detroit, Mich., 7338 Woodward Ave.; St. Louis, Mo., Star Bldg.

Charges on Tributes, Etc.: Charges will be made for all tributes, cards of thanks, resolutions, or memorials, concerning the departed. Commercial newspapers hold to this policy in the news columns to protect their readers from a deluge of space-taking memorials. The Star disclaims responsibility for the safe-keeping or return of any unsolicited manuscripts.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN Washington

Still Pals, Despite Clash Over NRA, Are Richbergs and Darrows . . . Johnson Is Friendly, Too . . . Grief Is Dodged by Radio Progers . . . North Dakotans Learn Some Eastern Geography.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—One of these evenings the Donald Richbergs will be having the Clarence Darrows out to dinner and all four will have a swell time.

When the air was so thick with dead cats recently as a result of the Darrow report on small business under NRA, Richberg's adjectives were the most scornful of all. He threw the full powers of a trial lawyer's vocabulary at the Darrow committee and its document—called the report "non-sensical," "pathetic," "shameful" "Communistic," and whatnot.

But the old, warm friendship between the Darrows and the Richbergs is unimpaired. The fur hadn't settled to earth before they were trying to make that dinner date. They made it twice, had to call it off because one or the other of the men had to work—and now they're trying it again.

Not Richberg's Choice

The story has gone uncontradicted that Richberg himself chose Darrow to head the National Recovery Review Board, which turned on NRA so savagely. It tended to make Richberg look a little silly and it isn't true.

Senator Gerald Nye, General Johnson, and Richberg were talking about the board, which was to be created as a result of Senate attacks by Nye and Borah. Nye was suggesting possible chairmen and mentioned Darrow. Richberg suggested that Darrow was old and rather tired.

Then Nye, before going west, asked Richberg for Darrow's telephone number. Later he made the arrangement with Darrow in Chicago. Darrow's wife, Ruby, got busy on long distance telephone and asked Richberg to dissuade her husband from taking the job. She was worried about Darrow's health.

Richberg didn't try to dissuade Darrow. Since he and Johnson had promised Nye an unrestricted choice, he couldn't do that without seeming to be in the position of double-crossing the senator.

That Ride With Johnson

Another story current here which would be funnier if it were true is the one that Darrow and Johnson, on their famous hour-and-a-half automobile ride, never once mentioned the Darrow report, which had just been made.

But it did take 75 minutes for them to get around to it. Johnson had been told that Darrow was to pay a social visit, so he didn't bring up the episode which had plastered their names across the front page of every newspaper in the land.

Darrow finally got around to it, however, and they discussed it for several minutes. Whatever was said, neither man seemed to be converted to anything.

(Johnson also is still a fond admirer of Darrow. He thinks Darrow was "used"—not by Charles Edward Russell, the board's Socialist adviser, but by Board Member W. O. Thompson, who joined with Darrow in signing the supplementary "socialistic" report.)

Radio Grief Dodged

Congressional committeemen handling the communications bill turned down the proposal to allot 25 per cent of all radio time to religious, educational, and "uplift" programs, from motives of pure human compassion. It wasn't that they loved the "radio trust."

Should any commission be given the job of dividing that 25 per cent among Catholics, Protestants and Jews, then among the many Protestant denominations and the colleges and the innumerable groups concerned with educating and "uplifting" the public?

The committeemen decided they wouldn't wish such a job on their worst foes.

Flunk on Geography

Did you hear how Senator Frazier and Congressman Lemke of North Dakota, father of the bill which would make the government take over farm mortgages, kept a speaking date with 2000 farmers in Manchester, Md.? They kept in in Manchester, Pa., where they were surprised to find no welcoming committee and no farmers. Meanwhile, the farmers at Manchester, Md., waited a long time and finally went home.

After being kept for five years in a show case in the Natural History Museum in London, a snail shell was found to contain a live snail.

YOUR CHILDREN

By Olive Roberts Barton

Here's a Plan to Halt Youthful "Floaters"

Some days I sit me down and wonder what in the world is happening to us.

For several years I have been saying, "It is the times. We must learn to see things in a different light. Be patient. After a while the tempo will slacken; we can catch up, or we'll learn to use a new tolerance."

But it doesn't work any more. I have almost given up hope of any adjustment. And it isn't "the times" I am sure now, but the spirit of unrest in people themselves.

I have reached the stage when I am utterly sorry the automobile was ever invented, because I blame rapid transit for most of it. Aside from the crime made possible, it is turning our young people into a lot of Bedouins.

Wandering Youth

Recently Travelers' Aid Societies have been co-operating, or trying to co-operate, on the problem of wandering boys and girls.

Two years ago there was a great to-do about the thousands of wild boys that had become a national problem. Washington talked of concentration camps and did make a gesture in the direction. The establishment of the CCC camps did much to gather in many of the wanderers. And for a time the matter of our floating population ceased to block the view.

Now we are suddenly aware that not only hundreds of thousands of unattached boys, but a shocking number of girls, too, are drifters without background, without support and without any prospect of taking root in any one place.

Youth Without Purpose

For a time they are sheltered at some aid station, and fed and looked after. But in almost no case where jobs are found for them do they stick long.

It is no true pioneer spirit that drives them, because they are without purpose and without any roots to transplant. Flotsam. Tragic flotsam with eyes that lose their faith and become calculating and hard. They are not "citizen" material. They slough off the responsibility even of self.

Once, when the Constitution was first drafted many states would not sign the "Bill of Rights" was amended which gave more freedom of living, open access across border-lines, and other concessions concerning trade.

In those days no one could foresee any such situation as exists today.

Blocking the Roads

I sometimes wonder if some new system of passports between states could not be worked out so that irresponsibles without reason for travel would have more difficulty in checking out, or in, on short order. After all, this country is too big to go on forever without a more stringent "block" system.

It may sound like a pipe dream, with all the roads we have today, but is it? Good healthy toll-gates would stop at least part of the minors now traveling for fun. Then each state would be better able to cope with its pitiable floaters.

GLORIFYING YOURSELF

By Alicia Hart

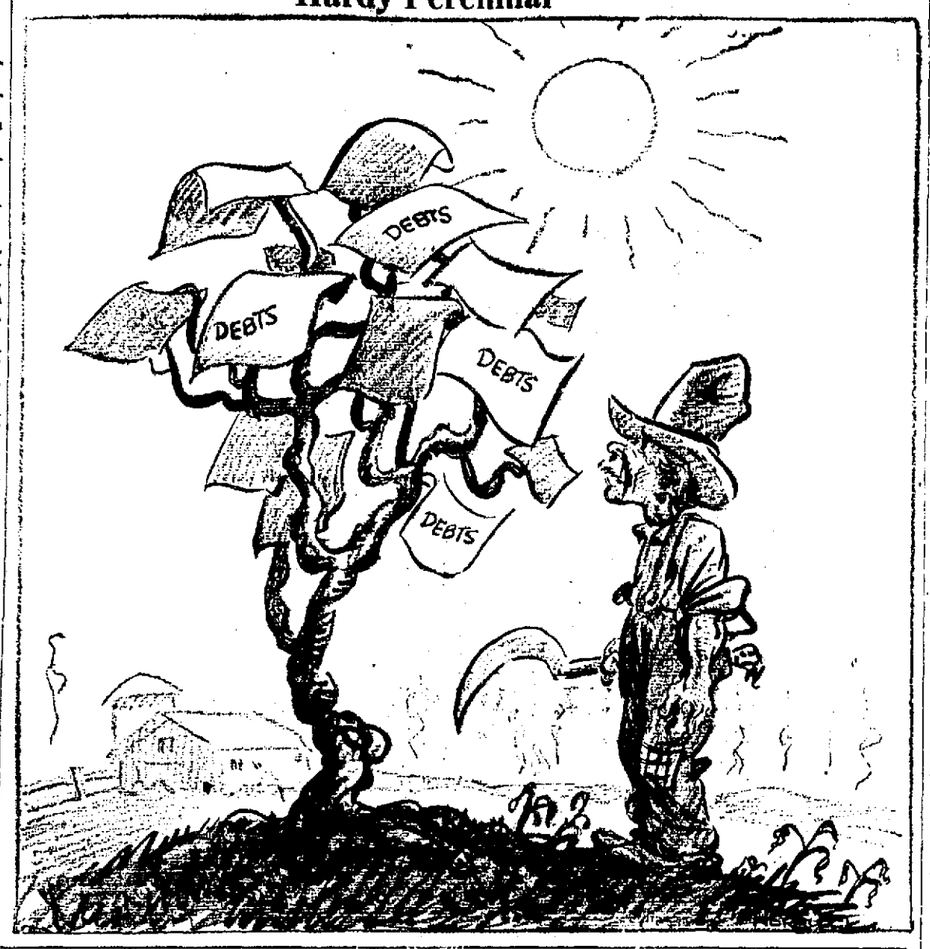

Apply Skin Tonic Freely During the Summer

The woman who can't bear any unnecessary discomfort during the hot months is apt to put aside beauty routines and cosmetics which take up too much time. In their place she probably will want to substitute simple, time-saving treatments and preparations that are cooling and refreshing.

Since all skins tend to be less dry in hot weather, it's not a bad idea to use a liquid cleanser instead of cleansing cream. Keep the bottle in the ice box when it's not in use. And keep your skin tonic or astringent there, too.

Speaking of skin tonic, it's one item that's sure to be called upon for double duty all summer. Whether you clean your skin with soap and water, liquid cleanser or a cream, you'll find that it's very refreshing to pat on ice cold skin tonic afterward. Always pour a little tonic into a dish and dip large cotton pads in it. Then, using the pads, pat the tonic on the face, neck and forehead. An astringent is applied in the same manner only, of course, you shouldn't use it oftener than once a day.

Hardy Perennial

Scanning New Books

By BRUCE CATTON

"The Glassy Pond," by F. Wright Moxley, is a queer and intense story about the slow disintegration of the mind of an American aristocrat. It is not quite the sort of book you speak of as "entertaining"—indeed, it is subtile and strained, simultaneously, in a way that makes it hard to read—but it has a power and an honesty that make you remember it, after you do read it.

It tells about a young man from New Orleans; a lad of good family, brought up to have a high regard for the family honor. His absorption in this feeling is intensified by his own father's lapses from the code.

The father, in fact, behaves like anything but an aristocrat. First he turns down the belle of New Orleans and marries a Yankee girl. Then he acquires a colored mistress and presents his son with a colored half-sister.

The ostracism which is visited on the family, as a result, simply increases the boy's fanatical devotion to the family reputation.

And all this leads him along a path that grows queerer and queerer. He becomes unendurable in his fiery pride; it lends him to insult people, to get into fights, to turn down the woman he loves, even to commit murders. His friends try to understand him, try to steer him into a normal way of life, but it is no use.

In the end he drifts entirely away from reality. The book's close finds him dreaming vaguely of founding a new, ultra-aristocratic empire in New Orleans. His concept of family honor has swollen into an insane thing that has completely ruined his life.

The book is published by Coward-McCann, and sells for $2.

DONNA of the BIG TOP

by BEULAH POYNTER

©1934 NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

DONNA GABRIEL, circus performer, falls from the trapeze and is injured. To please her partner, MADELINE SIDDAL, Donna goes to Madeline's home to recuperate, pretending to be the other girl. She is ashamed of the deception but keeps it up, even when BILL SIDDAL, Madeline's cousin, asks her to marry him. Bill and Donna are married.

MRS. PLANTER, housekeeper discharged by Donna, is her enemy.

AMOS SIDDAL, Madeline's grandfather, has a stroke.

Meanwhile Madeline who has married CON DAVID, the animal trainer, is killed. Con knows of Donna's deception and decides to blackmail her. He comes to the nearby town and Donna agrees to meet him. Mrs. Planter learns of this and sends Bill an anonymous letter. When Donna reaches home after meeting Con she says she has been at a neighbor's. Bill knows she has not.

Next morning he goes to see Con who shows him the certificate of his marriage to Madeline. Bill thinks his wife has committed bigamy. During his absence Grandfather Siddall dies. Bill tells Donna he "knows the truth" and that he will leave immediately after the funeral.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLV

DONNA studied the contents of the clothes closet. What an accumulation of clothing she had—bungalow aprons, gingham dresses, her wedding finery. There was no need to take all that to New York. Her lips twisted as she smoothed the soft, silken folds of the garments she and Minnie had spent so much time making.

Her trunk, containing her circus wardrobe, was in the attic. It was so heavy she doubted if she could move it alone, yet to ask Minnie to help would mean starting a train of questions Donna was in no mood to answer.

She would take the car, she decided, and find someone to drive it back from Lebanon. If she faced Bill again she would be sure to break down and plead for forgiveness and she wanted to keep what little self-respect she had. There was a train for Chicago at 6 o'clock. If she hurried she could catch it!

Once out of this house she would be able to put Bill out of her heart and life forever. He would divorce her, of course. Desertion was grounds for divorce.

If she remained at the farm until the will was read Bill would have more cause for bitterness against her. Perhaps, when the first hurt was over, he would contest the will and Con David's scheming would be ruined.

All of the other members of the household were down stairs—Minnie sobbing as though she had lost her nearest and dearest; Bill, hard and bitter and cold, feeling the loss of his grandmuncle scarcely at all in the face of his disillusion. No one heard the sound as Donna dragged the big trunk down the stairs from the attic or heard her moan of pain as the edge of it crushed down on her instep.

The pain sickened her so that she was afraid she was going to faint. Obviously she could not move the trunk further.

* * *

SHE decided to take only necessities in her traveling bag and leave a note asking to have the trunk shipped later. It could be delivered to one of the hotels in Lebanon and she could send instructions later where to have it forwarded.

She tried to harden herself against Bill. It had been unjust for him to take Con's explanation as final, giving her no chance to justify herself. All the months of her devotion had counted for nothing against the word of a stranger. Perhaps in time she could learn to hate him.

"Some day," Donna sobbed aloud, "some day, Bill Siddal, you'll understand and be sorry you've treated me this way. Some day you'll come to me for forgiveness and I won't give it. I can be hard and bitter, too! I'm going to forget you. I'm going to be the greatest aerial performer in the world! When my name is plastered on billboards in three sheets and twenty-four sheets and I'm acclaimed in Europe, as well as here, you'll wish you hadn't driven me away!"

Then, because fame meant so little to her, because a career was the last thing she wanted, she dropped on the floor beside the bed and, hugging Bill's pillow in her arms, moaned her love for him.

"Oh, Bill! Bill! If I'd never seen you—if I just didn't love you so much! Why didn't you love me as I love you? Why wasn't I honest with you? I'd have lost you before we were married if I'd told you the truth, but it wouldn't have been so hard then. It's my heart I'm leaving behind, and I can't stand it. I can't stand it!"

* * *

SUDDENLY, through her sobs, she heard Bill's voice in the hallway below. With a shudder she recognized the name he spoke. It was that of the undertaker. Donna sat tense, breathless, praying that when the others departed Bill would seek her. But the door closed with a slam and no steps mounted the stairs.

She dragged herself to her feet, bathed her swollen eyes and face and combed her disordered hair. She put on her hat and the heavy coat and mittens. Then, carrying the traveling bag, she descended the back stairs.

The bobsled stood in front of the house where Bill had left it. Donna decided it was safer to take the car and also quicker. If there was an accident and she was killed her problem would be solved.

The sun had melted the drifts considerably and she manipulated the car more easily than she had anticipated. Not until she passed the Adams house did she remember that she had not written the note she intended to leave.

Well, she wouldn't go back. After all, why trouble a man who despised her? She would wait for the morning train and send a boy from the hotel for her trunk. Then she could take it with her wherever she went.

Wagons and machines had passed over the road since she had last traveled it and a dark ribbon was cut through the snow. She made fairly good time. She discovered, when she reached the public square, that she had plenty of time to catch the 6 o'clock train. She drove the car into the garage adjoining the Central Hotel and asked Ben Goddard, the owner, to see that it was returned to the Siddal farm.

"Going away?" Goddard asked.

"Yes. To Chicago. My—Mr. Siddal couldn't drive me in. So I want you to take it back."

"How's Grandpa? Feeling any better?"

* * *

SHE did not stop to think. "He's dead," she said dully.

"Dead! Ain't that something sudden? I hadn't heard anything about it."

Too late she realized that she should have withheld the news. "He died today," she explained.

"My land! That's too bad. It must be something awful important that's taking you to Chicago when your Grandpa has just died."

"It is. Will you send the car back right away, Mr. Goddard?"

"Sure, sure. 'Nother death?"

"No."

"'Spose you're going to catch the 6 o'clock?"

Feeling trapped, she said she was if she could get accommodations. To make good her word she walked toward the railroad station, carrying her luggage. Obviously, unless she wanted a worse scandal than the one sure to break, she could not stay overnight at the Central Hotel.

How foolish she had been to have told about Grandpa! Of course Dr. Freeman and the undertaker would tell the news, but they were both at the farm.

There was a hotel at the depot but it catered to the sort of transients a respectable woman would avoid. There was nothing for her to do but catch the train or stay over night at the Commercial House.

Within sight of the little red brick building, the enormity of what had happened rushed upon her with greater force. Was she really going away, never to return? Going away from all that life held dear? Had it been only a few months since the day they carried her from the train, carried her into a paradise that could not last? Bill's strong brown arms had held her on the stretcher. Grandfather, smiling, his sightless eyes searching as though they could see, had stood on that platform to welcome her. Now Grandfather was dead and Bill worse than dead!

She fought the impulse to run in the opposite direction, to seize the car and drive back to the farm. Then a shrill whistle split the air and the sound made Donna's decision. She began to run, stumbling blindly, hitting the heavy traveling bag against her legs. As the train drew to a standstill she reached the platform. There was no time to buy a ticket. A porter stepped down, lifted her luggage and helped her on the train.

"Pullman?" he asked.

"Yes. To Chicago."

(To Be Continued)

Political Announcements

The Star is authorized to announce the following as candidates subject to the action of the Democratic primary election in August, 1934.

For Sheriff
GEORGE W. SCHOOLEY
W. AUBRY LEWIS
CLARENCE E. BAKER
J. E. (JIM) BEARDEN

County & Probate Judge
H. M. STEPHENS

County & Probate Clerk
RAY E. M'DOWELL
JOHN W. RIDGDILL

Tax Assessor
MRS. ISABELLE ONSTEAD
R. L. (LEE) JONES
C. C. (CRIT) STUART

Road Overseer
(DeRoan Township)
E. L. SULLIVAN
L. S. MAULDIN

Storks Capture Second Straight

Locals Beat Texarkana Tiremen Here Friday 7 to 2

Backed by timely hitting and good defensive play, "Blackie" Elliott hurled the Storks to their second victory in two days, beating Texarkana Tiremen here Friday afternoon, 7 to 2.

The Storks defeated Atlanta Thursday, 4 to 3, in a 10-inning thriller.

The victory Friday advanced the locals to the .500 percentage mark and only two games behind Atlanta, Two-States league leaders.

Riley, newly acquired right fielder who hit a home run in Thursday's game, missed the second circuit drive by inches here Friday when he drove one to the top of the centerfield wall. Howard, Tiremen catcher, sprained an ankle sliding into third base and was carried from the field.

The Storks scored one run in the opening inning. A second inning attack upon Harris produced four more runs. The Tiremen's two tallies came in the sixth.

The largest crowd this season is expected to attend Sunday's game here against Atlanta. A win for the locals would place them in a tie for second place provided the Transporters beat the Tiremen at Texarkana. A victory, too, would put the Storks within one game of first place.

Grice will probably be sent against the Rabbits.

Tiremen	Ab.	R.	H.
Kackley, cf-ss	3	0	2
Henderson, 1b	3	0	1
Hall, lf-3b	4	0	2
Powell, ss-c	4	1	2
Earhart, 2b	4	1	1
Williams, 3b-lf	3	0	0
Graves, rf-cf	3	0	1
Daniels, rf	2	0	0
Howard, c	1	0	1
Harris, p	3	0	2
Totals	30	2	12

Hope—	Ab.	R.	H.
Cook, cf	3	2	2
Riley, rf	4	1	1
Coop, 3b	3	0	2
Wells, ss	3	0	0
Allen, rf	3	1	2
Furtle, 2b	3	0	1
Bridges, 1b	3	0	0
Russell, c	3	1	2
Elliott, p	3	2	2
Totals	28	7	12

Tiremen	000 002 000—2
Hope	140 101 00x—7

Your Health

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

The aftermath of summer vacations frequently is earache. Earache means infection in most instances.

When you go bathing, and especially when you dive or swim under water, the water and the bacteria may get into your middle ear through the nose, because a tube passes from the nose into the ear. You may wear a rubber cap over your head and even put a rubber stopper in the outside ear, but that will not keep the water from getting into the nose and the Eustachean tube.

When you get out of the water, if you blow your nose and hold both nostrils shut at the time, you are quite certain to force the water, and anything that may happen to be in the water, into your internal ear.

When you get an earache, it is not safe to consider the condition lightly. Any infection in the ear may be serious because it may proceed to an infection of the mastoid region and from that even to an infection of the brain.

Of course, the most foolish of all is the person who has an infection, with material discharging from the eardrum, who goes swimming while in this condition. He stands the chance of introducing the infection from both inside and out.

Nothing could be more dangerous to health and life than a performance of this character.

When you have an earache, do not try to treat it by putting all sorts of things into the ear. Your doctor will tell you that the only thing worth while and safe for the average person to put into his ear is a little warmed glycerin. This is dropped in gently with a medicine dropper and the ear is plugged lightly with cotton to hold the warm glycerine in place.

While this will not cure the infection, it will help alleviate the pain and give your body a chance to promote healing. However, the safest procedure is to have a competent doctor look at the eardrum as soon as possible.

If there is severe redness or bulging of the eardrum, indicating the presence inside the ear of infected material under pressure, a tiny incision under the eardrum will let the material out and save the patient from the likelihood of defaness.

It will also, in the majority of cases, serve to prevent invasion of the infection into the mastoid.

The lining of the outer canal of the ear is a delicate membrane, easily scratched or injured. Never try to treat a condition affecting that lining by pushing in matches, toothpicks, hairpins, or any other instrument that you may happen to have handy. Just as with the eye, it is not safe to put into the ear anything smaller than your elbow.

An earache is a warning signal that something inside is wrong. Healthful ears do not ache. See to it that you pay attention to the warning signal.

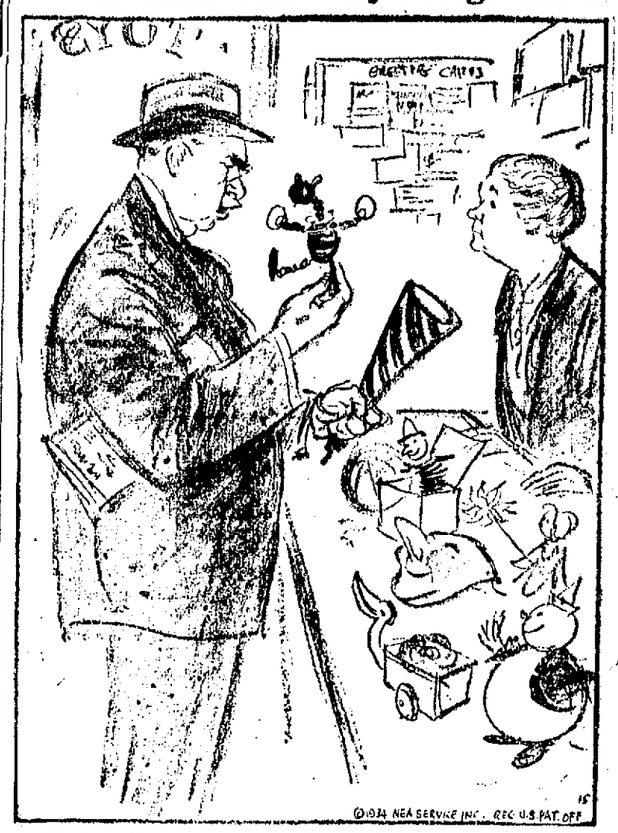

ASK

The lady who owns a Heffner rebuilt sweeper. Names glady furnished. Why not have your cleaner checked Free? Have it rebuilt Heffner's way. Satisfaction or no pay.

Also guaranteed rebuilt cleaners for sale at Hope Furniture Co.

Heffner's Sweeper Service
Frank Heffner
Hope Furniture Co. Phone 5

SIDE GLANCES By George Clark

"Is this all you have? I don't find these very amusing."

guaranteed
RADIO SERVICE
Hempstead Co. Lbr. Co.
HOYT ANDRES
Phone 89

STOLEN
From First Baptist Church
1-16-in. Oscillating fan
1-12-in. Stationary fan
1-8-in. Oscilating fan.
Any information supplied the pastor will be appreciated.

Begins New Week in The Hope Star

Society

MRS. SID HENRY TELEPHONE 321

Who Makes a Garden

Whoever makes a garden
Has never worked alone:
The rain has always found it,
The sun has always known,
The wind has blown across it
And helped to scatter seeds—
Whoever makes a garden
Has, Oh, so many friends
The glory of the morning,
The dew when daylight ends.
For wind, and rain, and sunshine,
And dew and fertile sod,
Works hand in hand with God.
—Selected.

Friday afternoon at the home of Dr. Etta Champlin the Hope Garden club met for their regular monthly meeting with a splendid membership present. The meeting was opened by the president Mrs. K. G. McRae, and Dr. Etta Champlin, leader of the afternoon introduced as guest speaker, Mr. Roy Stephenson, although his vocation is banking, has a most interesting side-line as it were, in raising beautiful flowers of all kinds, but stressing on handsome dahlias. Mr. Stephenson gave a most interesting and instructive talk on how to raise dahlias successfully and demonstrated his talk with a number of cut flowers and that were almost too perfect and beautiful to be true and again proving the fact that Arkansas ranks right along with California and Florida in the beauty and size of her flower production. A rising vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Stephenson for his interesting and stimulative talk. In a further discussion of unusual flowers, Mrs. J. A. Henry exhibited a bouquet of that dainty wild flower, known as Queen Anne's Lace, showing a coloring of the pastel shades that was very attractive. Mrs. Sid Henry told the club of the beauty and unusual plants in yards of different colored people on S. Walnut and Hazel streets and Dr. Etta Champlin demonstrated the propagation of last season's poinsetta plants. During the business period the flower show, which is being sponsored by the Garden Club was discussed and it was voted to hold regular meetings thru the summer months, and in order to clear up the roll of members, all of the members of the Hope Garden club are requested to call the secretary, Mrs. Sid Henry, 321, within the next 10 days so that the new roll may be completed.

—o—

The Womans Missionary Society will hold their regular meeting Monday morning at 8:30 at the church. Circle 5 will me in charge of the Missionary program.

Lovely skins and hair require professional treatment through the summer months.
Let us advice you.
Lewis Beauty Salon
Experience Counts Phone 39

HOSE SALE
89c Pair
2 Pairs $1.50
THE GIFT SHOP
Phone 252

BE WISE
We represent insurance companies of national scope and famous for the prompt settlement of claims against them.
ROY ANDERSON & CO
COMPLETE INSURANCE SERVICE
PHONE 810 HOPE, ARK.

"Best Dressed" on the Riviera

Reports that she was described as the best dressed woman on the Riviera surprised Mrs. James A. Farley, wife of the Postmaster General when, as shown here, she arrived in New York. "Why," she said, "every stitch I've got on bought in the United States."

Mrs. C. W. Harrington is spending the week end with relatives and friends in Warren.

—o—

Miss Margaret Garvin of Shreveport will arrive Sunday night to spend a few days with Mrs. Bernard O'Dwyer.

—o—

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Franklin and little son Bobby, left Saturday morning for a twe weeks visit with relatives and friends in Gallatin, Tenn.

—o—

Miss Margaret Kinser left Saturday afternoon for a visit with friends in Fort Smith.

—o—

Mrs. R. R. Williams and children will spend the next two weeks visiting with relatives and friends in several Mississippi cities.

—o—

Mrs. John Bradley Howard left Friday morning for a visit with Mr. Howard in Murfreesboro, Tenn.

—o—

Mrs. S. G. Norton has spent the past few days with her daughter, Miss Rebecca Norton in Little Rock.

—o—

A very attractive benefict bridge sponsored by the ladies of the Catholic church was given Friday afternoon in the main dining room of the New Capital Hotel. Beautiful summer flowers decorated the rooms and refreshing fruit punch was served throughout the afternoon. Prizes went to Mrs. G. Frank Miles, Mrs. D. L. Bush, Mrs. E. P. Stewart, Mrs. Clyde Yarbrough (Shreveport) Mrs. F. Barrett, Mrs. R. B. Stanford, Mrs. C. E. Cassidy, Mrs. W. Y. Foster Jr., Mrs. Arthur Swanke,, Mrs Thos Kinser, Mrs. Kline Snyder and Mrs. George Meehan. The ladies desire to thank all who assisted in making the party a success.

—o—

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Williams and little daughters, Nancy Fay and Patricia are spending the week in Hot Springs.

—o—

Mr. nd Mrs. J. L. Williams of Sheridan who have spent the past several days in this city visiting with relatives, left Friday for their home.

NOW DOUBLE PROGRAM
Kay Francis "Mandalay" Serial
"Fighting with Kit Carson"
Geo. O'Brien
"Frontier Marshall"

It's ALWAYS cooler at the—
SAENGER
SUNDAY & MONDAY
THAT NEW CHILD-STAR SENSATION!
SHIRLEY TEMPLE

A million-dollar baby... dropped into the melting pot of morals... when her daddy hocked her for twenty bucks! She showed wise guys how dumb they were when it came to love!
—with—
Adolph Menjou
Dorothy Dell
Charles Bickford
"Little MISS MARKER"
Betty Boop Cartoon "Ha, Ha, Ha" Paramount News

Strike Apparently Averted in Steel

President Green of A. F. of L. Puts Over Compromise With Men

PITTSBURGH, Pa. —(AP)— The threatened national steel strike was averted indefinitely Friday night as the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers voted to accept a four-point compromise proposal submitted by Presdient William A. Gren of the American Federation of Labor.

"It is patriotic action at this time to promote industrial peace; don't let the steel barons select the battlefield and the methods of fighting," Green shouted to the 188 delegates who say they represent more than 100,000 of their industry's 430,000 workers.

Green's proposal, running along the lines of the revised Wagner bill, introduced Friday in congress and the Steel Institute, was amended to give the executive committee of the union full power to set the date of the strike, in case the proposal is not accepted.

"We intend to seek a conference Monday with President Roosevelt to lay our suggestion before the President as a counter-proposal," said Mitchael F. Tighe, Amalgamated president, after the meeting broke up shortly after 11 p. m.

Green ended his plea for settlement of the present disputes with this statement:

"I urge and insist that you accept the proposal."

A committee of 16 was named to consider the proposal.

Appealing to the union delegates "in all good faith" Green said he "is firmly convinced that all efforts possible should be put forth to avoid an industrial conflict in the steel industry at this time."

The men who "represent the steel corporations" he described as "autocratic, dictatorial and unreasonable."

Germany Warned British to Collect

Plan to Seize Trade Balance for Defaulted Refunding Notes

LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—A stern warning to the Germans that if they persist on default on foreign obligations, Great Britain will take steps to collect the money due, nayway, was given in the House of Commons, by Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the Exchequer Friday.

Answering an arranged question which is very unusual on Friday when the House sits only for a few hours in the morning, Chamberlain said the the government had recived notice from the Germans of the moratorium.

He said that the British ambassador at Berlin had been instructed to inform the Germans that the British government intended shortly to introduce legislation which would enable it to set up an Anglo-German clearing office, but would refrain from exercise of these powers if assured of fair treatment for British bondholders and British commerce before July 1.

Detailed arrangements would be worked out as soon as possible and "I should add," said the chancellor, "that anyone who purchases government bonds now held by foreigners now does so at his own risk. The declaration made by the Reichsbank refers only to medium and long term loans. I have seen no suggestion that the German government intends to interfere with the standstill agreement and I see no reason why that should be affected."

The idea is to set up a clearing house in London through which all Anglo-German transactions must pass. As Germany sells mor eto Great Britain than Britain to Germany, Britain can seize the balance for the satisfaction of her nation's claim against Germany.

Germany to Retaliate Friday

BERLIN—(AP)— In an official communique, the German government announced Friday night that any economic reprisals by England for the moratorium on Young and Dawes loans will be met by quick retaliation in kind against English imports to Germany.

The communique was prompted by reports that England will establish a cumpulsory clearing arrangement, and was regarded as a flat statement of German policy gainst possible reprisals by other creditor countries as well.

Pointing out that Germany has announced readiness to enter negotiations on the moratorium question, but insisting that such negotiations will not be possible "under pressurs" the communique says that "the British government seems to proceed from the idea that Germany is not a very important factor in British trade."

During the first quarter of this year Germany has had a passive trade balance of 60,000,000 marks with the British empire, it was said, the inference being that Germany has the advantage in a possible battle of compulsory clearings.

Sugar is sometimes used in mortar for big buildings and bridges to make the binder more effective.

Corn was grown in China long before it was grown by the English settlers at Jamestown, Virginia.

Evangelist Opens Here Sunday

Evangelist Chester Estes will begin a series of meetings Sunday, June 17, with the Church of Christ, which meets at West Fifth and Grady streets. Mr. Estes has held two successful meetings here formerly. He is a graduate of David Lipscomb College of Nashville, Tenn. His sermons are plain and always to the point. The public is cordially invited to attend these meetings. Services will begin each evening at 7:45.

NEWS of the CHURCHES

Our Lady of Good Hope Church Fourth Sunday after Pentecost.

10:15 Catechism instructions.
11:00 Holy sacrifice of the Mass. Discourse: "Master, we have toiled all the night, and taken nothing."
7:30 Prayers for a good harvest. Benediction with the Most Blessed Sacrament.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN
Thos. Brewster, Pastor

Sunday school 9:45 a. m. Classes for all ages.
Morning service 10:55 a. m.
Senior Young People meet at 6:30.
Evening service 7:45 p. m.
Mid-week service Wednesday 7:45 p. m. Monthly meeting of our Women's Auxiliary Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

PARIS TERRORIZED

(Continued from Page One)

to the "judges of hell."

Police are worried about the safety of President LeBrun, Premier Doumergue and the cabinet who have been threatened in communications from the terrorist, and all public figures are being guarded.

Every postoffice is being checked and dealers in explosives have been questioned in an effort to find the source of the materials used in the infernal machines, which are not very powerful.

Recipients of the bombs have included the powerful Hatchette publishing house, Les Galeris LaFayette, famous department store; Tokalom, an American beauty products firm, and the French branch of the Venus Pencil, company, an American firm.

MAIL TERMINAL

(Continued from page one)

President Roosevelt.

Under this reclassification practically all employes of the railway mail service will be reduced one grade, which means for each employee approximately $12.50 reduction in monthly pay. All the employes of the Texarkana terminal will be affected by this reclassification with the exception of the clerk in charge of the terminal operations.

There are 69 regulars now employed at the Texarkana terminal, in addition to which there are 11 laborers. They will not be affected by the reclassification.

It is understood that clerks that elect to take jobs on trains will not suffer reduction in compensation.

Centennial Plans Perfected for '36

President Reynolds, Hendrix College, Added to Commission

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)— Plans to make the Arkansas Centennial celebration an exposition which would show the handiwork and characteristics of the people of the state were discussed at the annaul meeting of the Arkansas honorary centennial commission here Frday.

Members of the commission reelected all officers and added Dr. John H. Reynolds, president of Henrdix college as a member of the executive committee.

Officers are George W. Donaghey, chairman; Mrs. J. F. Weinmann, vice-chairman; Robert E. Wait, treasurer; A. W. Parke, executive secretary; Dallas T. Herndon, historian, and Dr. Chas. S. Holt of Fort Smith, Lee Cazort and W. F. Scarborough of Batesville, executive committeemen.

Pioneer exhibits will be set up in each county of the state, it was said, as a means of gathering the best historical exhibits for use at the exposition.

The remainder of the exposition will be devoted to exhibits of the industries and products of the state.

Mrs. Weinmann made a report from the pageant committee of the commission. The date of the pageans is set for June 13, 1936 and the state contest for the event will close November 30, 1935.

The possibility of obtaining Fair Park in Little Rock for the site of the exposition was discussed briefly, but the commission members said that if the program interfered with the plan to make a recreational park¼ of Fair Park, another site would be sought.

The United States once had beavers as large as bears, specimens of these giant beavers have been found in Ohio, New York Michigan, South Carolina and Texas.

I KNOW SO MUCH ABOUT YOU

By Helen Welshimer

I KNOW so much about you—just the way
Your face lights up at something in a book;
The eagerness with which you help small boys
Sail paper boats, down-drifting on a brook.
I know you spend your stray coins foolishly
For hurdy-gurdy tunes and sweet, brief blooms
Street venders sell . . . I can't forget the way
Your eyes have smiled at me across wide rooms.

A TIME or two when you've been hungry, too,
Because you gave too freely, that I know.
A suit you wore—a suit you never liked—
And how you walked so straight, head high, heart low.
And all these things have made me love you more
Than any feats that knights perform in war.

(Copyright, 1934, by NEA Service, Inc. All reprint and song rights reserved.)

You'll Get More Music in Films

To Be Used as Background for Drama and Comedy

By DAN THOMAS
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD.—Music is destined to play a much greater part in the making of motion pictures before another year has passed.

This, however, does not mean that we are due for more spectacular musical productions, such as "Footlight Parade," "Dancing Lady," and others of that caliber. It simply means that music will be adapted to a vast majority of films in such manner as to increase greatly their entertainment value.

Oscar Hammerstein II, one of the nation's foremost librettists, advances this opinion, which he backs with all the proof one could desire. He has some definite ideas as to how music should be used in pictures and now is at the M-G-M studio to put those ideas into effect.

"All films, except those of a depressing nature, can be improved considerably through the proper use of music," Hammerstein declares. "Each should carry a complete musical score in keeping with the action and thought of the story.

"Lyrics aren't necessary, although one or two songs could be used, provided a legitimate place is found for them. Naturally, they can't be dragged in for no reason, as they have been at times in the past. Movie audiences won't accept that.

"However, music itself will prove a great asset. Any love scene, dramatic scene, or even light comedy can be made more entertaining by having the right music behind it. This should not in any way interfere with the dialog, either. If the musical score is right, an audience would be almost unconscious of its existence.

"The fans would be conscious only of being more highly entertained than at present."

Persistent Cuss

During the first two days that Joan Crawford was working on her new picture, Franchot Tone visited her set exactly eight times—and had lunch with her both days besides. Apparently he doesn't believe her statements that she won't marry him. Or maybe he does.

Seeing Things

Roaming around: Everyone on the "We're Rich Again" set drinking ice cream sodas . . . they're allowed five minutes at mid-afternoon for this recreation . . . and all take advantage of it. . . Ralph Morgan repaying an old debt by showing a friend through the studio. . . Jean Harlow stopping at a drive-in came to have a fish cooked for her . . . she caught it herself. . . . Una O'Connor making a clay model of Norma Shearer between scenes. . . . Esther Ralston off for her daily tennis game. . . . George Hill showing Jeanette MacDonald some oddities he brought back from China. . . . Charles Butterworth and Jimmy Durante trying to be funny on the first day of their new film . . . that's always a tough job. . . . Minna Gombell trying to get a day off . . . that's a tougher job.

Philo Vance Again

No matter in what studio William Powell is working, he can't get away from lawyer or detective roles. His next picture, taken from S. S. Van Dine's "Casino Murder Case," again brings him to the screen as Philo Vance, a role he has played so often he probably could tell Van Dine things he doesn't know about the character.

Ship Builder

A letter from Constance Cummings, now in England, reveals that the actress is becoming a modeler of no mean ability. She has just completed a three-and-a-half-foot miniature of "The Golden Hind," the ship in which Sir Francis Drake encircled the earth. She made every bit of it herself, too.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

Berry Recipes For Time-Saving Desserts

BY MARY E. DAGUE
NEA Service Staff Writer

Berries are a boon to the busy mother who has little time to spend making fussy desserts for summer menus. When there are small children in the family, though, it's best to rub very seedy fruit as blackberries through a strainer to remove the seeds, which are indigestible and may do a small child harm. A small amout of the sifted pulp may be given the children as young as two, however.

Berries also lend themselves to many types of made desserts. The not-too-rich ones are suitable, served with cream, for children over six.

Tomorrow's Menu

Breakfast: Chilled melon balls, cereal, cream, bacon and tomato sandwiches, milk, coffee.

Luncheon: English monkey on toasted crackers, fresh vegetable salad, blueberry molasses puffs, limeade.

Dinner: Porterhouse steak, shoestring potatoes, creamed carrots and peas, jellied cabbage and pineapple salad, blackberry whip, sponge cake, milk, coffee.

Berry whips made of egg whites and sifted pulp are excellent for invalids as well, being nourishing, yet light.

Give Bread Puddings Flavor

Steamed puddings and baked puddings of cake-like texture are good served warm when the rest of the meal is cold and berry pies are especially popular with the men folks. Berries of all kinds add to the flavor of bread pudding. The pudding itself can be made in several ways. A foundation bread-custard pudding may have the berries added and the whole baked as usual. Or the fruit can be stewed with sugar and poured over thin slices of bread and butter. This is molded and chilled and served with sugar and cream. These desserts are deliciously simple and are suitable for children.

Blueberries which have few seeds and not much acidity are particularly good in puddings and pies.

Blueberry molasses puffs, a typical New England dish, economical and good, make a nice dessert for luncheon or a light dinner.

Blueberry Molasses Puffs

One cup blueberries, ½ cup boiling water, 1 cup molasses, 4 tablespoons sugar, 4 tablespoons melted shortening, 2½ cups flour, 1 teaspon soda, 1 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspon cinamon, ½ teaspoon salt.

Look over berries, wash and drain. Sprinkle with 1½ tablespoons flour and mix lightly but thoroughly. Mix boiling water and molasses. Mix and sift flour, soda, salt and spices. Add to liquid ingredients and mix well. Add melted shortening and beat hard. Stir in prepared berries. Turn into oiled and floured individual pans and bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven. Serve warm with sugar and cream.

Swallows can fly at a speed of more than two miles a minute.

AT THE THEATER

Five year-old Shirley Temple is the "little doll" hugging Adolphe Menjou. These two, with Dorothy Dell, Charles Bickford, are featured in Damon Runyon's "Little Miss Marker," the surprise picture of the year at the Saneger Sunday and Monday.

Free Shampoo
With each Finger Wave
1 week only.
$4.00 Permanents $2.50
Mary's Beauty Shop
Phone 287 Cannon Apartments

ATHLETE'S FOOT MEDICINE
25c
Money Back Guarantee.
MORELAND'S
Drug Store

P. A. Lewis Motor Co.
Third & Washington
Used Cars, New and Used Parts, Batteries, Tires.
Washing, Greasing, Gas and Oils.

FOR SALE
One 1933 Chevrolet Tudor Sedan
One 1932 Ford Tudor Sedan
One 1929 Buick Sedan.
Hempstead Motor Co.
Phone 850 207 East Third

SALE
Silk Boucle Suits for vacation needs.
$10.95
LADIES SPECIALTY SHOP
"Excusive But Not Expensive"

FARMERS NOTICE
We carry a full line of "Genuine" McCormick-Deering Repair Parts. Keep your whole machine "Genuine."
South Arkansas Implement Co.

ERNEST PALS DICK
CURB MARKET
Anything in the Vegeable Line. Fresher and Just as Cheap. Call on Us.

Luther N. Garner
Candidate for
Tax Assessor
Hempstead County
Will appreciate your vote and influence

Spray Your Stock With
Jackson's Fly Spray
Not Only Keeps Them Off But Kills Flies and Mosquitoes.
75 cents Gallon
JOHN S. GIBSON Drug Company
"The REXALL Store"
Hope, Ark. Established 1885

It's Here
Lucky Strike's
Most expensive and elaborate electric display. The largest ever brought to Hope. See it at Jacks News Stand

Feed Mill Demonstration
Wednesday, June 20
at Hope, Ark.
The John Deere Letz Feed Maker is a mill of latest design capable of making and mixing any type of feed dry or green or separating various types of grain for seed purposes.
You are invited to attend and also bring a limited amount of feed for grinding.
Hope Hardware Company

The Supreme Pontiff

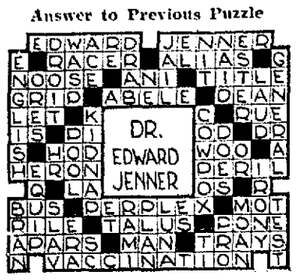

HORIZONTAL

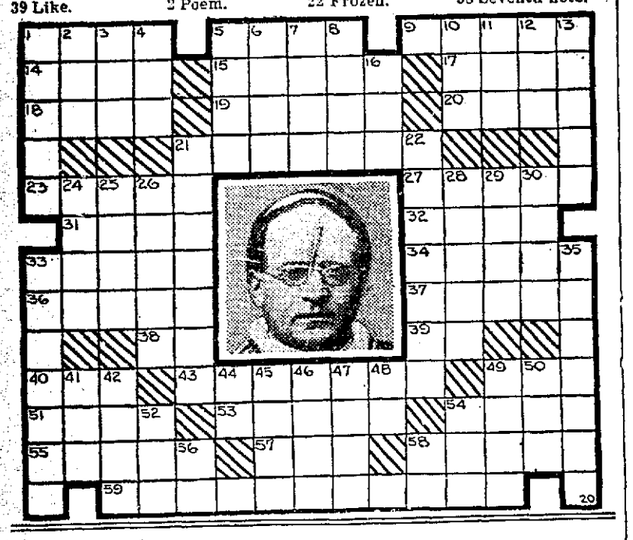

1 Who is the head of the Roman Catholic Church?
5 He is —— XI.
9 His family name is Achille ——.
14 Smell.
15 Sour.
17 Oceans.
18 To have on.
19 Lively composition.
20 Bucket.
21 Medicinal root.
23 Less common.
27 Speaks imperfectly.
31 Projection of the ear.
32 Region.
33 Navigator Islands.
34 Animal similar to raccoon.
36 Elms.
37 Ria.
38 Southeast.
39 Like.
40 Aurora.
43 Particular.
49 Chum.
51 Glazed clay block.
53 To spout forth.
54 Fern seeds.
55 Exultant.
57 God of war.
58 Ringworm.
59 He lives in —— ——.

VERTICAL

1 Force.
2 Poem.
3 Blue grass.
4 To sin.
5 Equal (combining form)
6 Portrait statue
7 Coffee pots.
8 Slope of a hill.
10 Snake.
11 Beverage.
12 Japanese fish.
13 Small bodies of land.
16 To put on.
21 Animal fats.
22 Frozen.
24 Pertaining to wings.
25 Where is his domain?
26 Trees yielding oil.
28 Presses.
29 To close with wax.
30 The brain.
33 His is the Church of ——.
35 Since 1591 all the Supreme Pontiffs have been ——.
41 Lubricant.
42 Slavic person.
44 Postscript.
45 Narrative poem.
46 Curate.
47 Persia.
48 Preposition.
49 Small horse.
50 Verb.
52 Greek letter.
54 To perch.
56 And.
58 Seventh note.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Washington

The rain Sunday night was very nice on crops, also another shower fell on Tuesday morning causing corn to grow rapidly.

W. R. Pruitt spent the past week end with his family here.

Mrs. Charley Moss and little son arrived Tuesday from Kansas City for a visit with her parents, Mr. an Mrs. J. R. Card.

Miss Helen Griffin, Home Demonstration agent and Miss Posey of Texarkana met with the Home Demonstration club Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Melson Frazier. Jelly making was the demonstration given. Next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. W. E. Elmore and peach preserves and tomato juice making will be given at the meeting.

We are very sorry that little Jimmie May is sick with scarlet fever.

Miss Margaret Robinson is leaving Thursday for New York City after a visit with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Robinson. She was maid of honor in the Trimble-Ettter wedding.

M. E. Tate returned a few days ago from the state sanitorium where he has been under medical examination The doctors report that he is very much improved.

A steamer recently rescued three German canoeists who had been cast ashore on one of the Andaman islands in the Bay of Bengal without guns, but with a kerosene can which they beat continuously to scare away tigers.

Sell It! Find It! Rent It! Buy It! in the Hope Star

Market Place

Remember, the more you tell, the quicker you sell.
1 time, 10c line, min. 30c

For consecutive insertions, minimum of 3 lines in one ad.
3 times, 6c line, min. 50c
6 times, 5c line, min. 90c
26 times, 3½c line, min. $2.70
(Average 5½ words to the line)

NOTE—Want ads may be charged with the understanding that the bill is payable on presentation of statement, before the first publication.

Phone 768

Don't Make a Slave Out of Your Wife When It is so Hot. It's Safe to Be Hungry at the CHECKERED CAFE Dinner and Supper for 2 $30.00 a month. (Sat.)

Why have the house recovered? Repair the leaks with tin shingles. $1.00 per hundred. Ask about it. Halliburton Sheet Metal Works. 8-6tp.

Best Paint Sold—Hope Bldg. Mat. Co.

FOR SALE

Screen doors—Hope Bldg. Mat. Co.

WANTED

WANTED—Small furnished apartment in desirable neighborhood. Call at 1301 South Main. 14-3tp

Wall Paper—Hope Bldg. Mat. Co.

WANTED—300 more 1-gallon bottles and glass jugs. 10c each. John S. Gibson Drug Company. 11-6te

FOR RENT

FOR RENT—5 room house on old 67 highway $10. Phone 1633-F4. 13-3t

FOR RENT—Five-room house to right party, South Elm street. Apply R. F. Hunt, Rosston road. 16-3t-p

FOR SALE

FORSALE— My home on North Hervey Street, cheap. Mrs. Fred Webb, 13-3tp.

THE STANDINGS

Southern Association

Clubs—	Won	Lost	Pct.
Nashville	36	18	.667
Atlanta	31	24	.564
New Orleans	31	25	.554
Memphis	28	27	.509
Knoxville	28	29	.491
Chattanooga	25	31	.446
Birmingham	26	33	.441
Little Rock	20	38	.345

American League

Clubs—	Won	Lost	Pct.
New York	30	20	.600
Detroit	26	21	.553
Cleveland	26	21	.553
Washington	29	25	.537
St. Louis	24	25	.490
Boston	25	26	.490
Philadelphia	20	30	.400
Chicago	17	34	.333

National League

Clubs—	Won	Lost	Pct.
New York	35	19	.648
St. Louis	31	20	.593
Chicago	32	22	.593
Pittsburgh	27	22	.540
Boston	26	24	.520
Brooklyn	23	30	.434
Philadelphia	18	31	.367
Cincinnati	12	36	.250

RESULTS FRIDAY

Southern Association
Birmingham 1, Atlanta 8.
Little Rock 2, Knoxville 7.
Nashville 2, New Orleans 3.
Memphis 5, Chattanooga 4.

American League
Chicago 7, Washington 8.
Cleveland 12, Philadelphia 6.
St. Louis 3, New York 6.
Detroit 11, Boston 4.

National League
New York 1, Cincinnati 2.
Brooklyn 6, Pittsburgh 4.
Boston 10, St. Louis 4.
Philadelphia 4, Chicago 3.

Luck's Tourist Court
See us for Rates for Your Bridge Parties and Dancing
Ray Luck Phone 222 H. E. Luck

Nelson · Huckins
LAUNDRY
Wash Suits Properly Laundered.....50c
PHONE 8

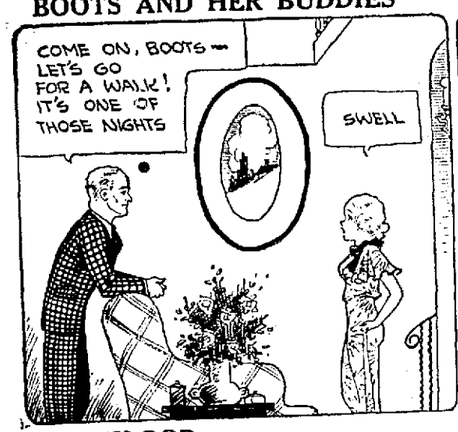

OUR BOARDING HOUSE — By AHERN

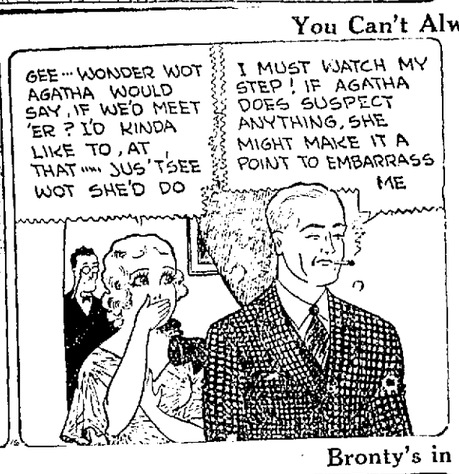

OUT OUR WAY — By WILLIAMS

BOOTS AND HER BUDDIES

You Can't Always Tell—

By MARTIN

ALLEY OOP — Bronty's in Again! — By HAMLIN

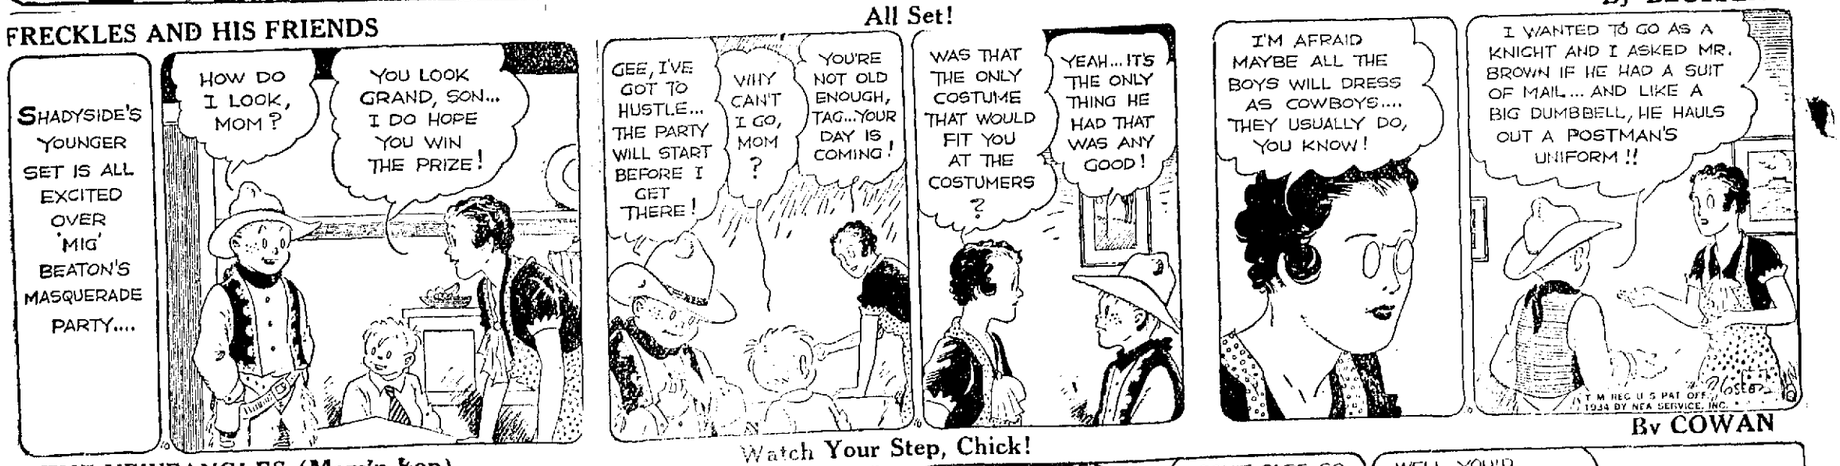

WASH TUBBS — Escaped! — By CRANE

By BLOSSER

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS — All Set!

By COWAN

THE NEWFANGLES (Mom'n Pop) — Watch Your Step, Chick!

